Hello! Nice to meet you! I'm Mr Adrian the manager of Adidas.

I must say you aren't the only applicant, so why should we hire you?

These are positive elements but can you mention one weakness?

Well then, I will contact you in a week's time. Thank you for coming!

Yes, I did. I went to India and Australia. I had to present our products.!

First, let's talk about your experience and skills! Have you ever worked for a similar company before?

Okay then, take a seat please!.

I was good at taking orders and registering them on the computer and persuading prospective clients!

It sounds interesting, did you travel abroad with your manager?!

What did you do exactly?

Thank you!

Nice to meet you, I'm Mister Wilson, I'm very interested in the job offer.

Yes, I have.

Indeed, I did my training period, as a student at the Export department at Nike's.

That's very simple, I don't like confrontation and hostile behaviours!

In fact, I'm the best candidate for the job because I I'm organized, flexible, and sociable: I like working in a team.

Goodbye, Mr Adrian Have a good day!!

You said, it was about selling shoes, so what qualities did you develop?

Yes, this salary corresponds to my expectations..

I helped the director of the selling department to get in touch with customers and advertize our products: it was about selling shoes.

Now before putting an end to this interview let's talk about your salary! You'll earn 2500 euros a month. Will that suit you?!
