

ARCTIC MELTDOWN

This document is a cover of the Time, an American magazine. It dates from 2000.
The Arctic is the region located in the North of Earth. Land in this region is permafrost (made of ice).

The title says that the Arctic is melting. This is a consequence of global warming.
It is symbolised by the photo on which we can see a polar bear standing on ice and looking at the water.

The caption says that this polar bear is danger because global warming is threatening the planet and that we are in danger too.

VOCABULARY

meltdown : fonte

cover : couverture (de magazine, de livre)

Earth (pas d'article si je mets une majuscule) : la Terre

ice : glace

melt : fondre

global warming : réchauffement climatique

polar bear : ours polaire

caption : légende (texte sous une image)

threaten : menacer

too (en fin de phrase) : aussi