The Police Doesn't Sleep

Of course our police officers, with their 24-hour vigilance, always sleep. It's just that they sleep in a different way. They sleep more when it's quietest, in the middle of the night, when there are no cars on the road.

We Cherish Your Sleep

Our police officers are always on duty, but they also know when to rest. They sleep when you're sleeping, so you can get a good night's rest too.

I can't kill because it's
