

Tuesday, 5th October

Picture description

This document is a drawing that describes the most horrible terror attack of September 11th 2001.

On that terrible day twenty years ago, two planes crashed [t] on the World Trade Center in New York, USA. A few minutes later, the two towers collapsed [t]. There were thousands of victims.

On the left side of the picture, I can see the Statue of Liberty, the symbol of New York. She looks like a real person because she is crying (there are big tears on her face). She's looking up to the sky. Maybe she is praying for the victims. She's sad because she can't do anything to help.

In the background, I can see New York's skyline. There is a lot of smoke. The two towers are in flames : they have just been hit by the planes. I suppose people are trying to escape.

The author wants to show that America was deeply hurt and touched by this tragedy.

Today we still remember what happened [d] in 2001 and we will never forget.

Vocabulaire

Je peux voir :

L'auteur veut montrer :

s'effondrer

il y a 20 ans:

il y a : +singulier + pluriel

un dessin :

frappé par

Je suppose :

Peut-être :

Au premier plan :

Sur le côté gauche de l'image :

Nous n'oublierons jamais :

un attentat

ressembler / avoir l'air de

larmes :

profondément blessé :

s'écraser :

s'échapper :

Nous nous souvenons encore/toujours :