

Out of the wood

A BREATHTAKING SHOW

This Thursday, 14th of november, the amazing Pickles Company show their performance to students of the school La Salle Lille.

The team of the pickles company came to give a magnificent show for the students of La Salle Lille. It was called "Out of the Woods". There were 3 actors and they played very well ! It was at the chapel of the school, it started at 10:50 a.m and took almost 2 hours. Everything was in English. The play is about a Queen who protects her kingdom by walls called Stonewall and one day Flick, a girl, was arrested by the Queen because she found an apple from outside, she will try to escape the kingdom and find the truth.

The three actors:

Lou RASSE:

Lou is a Belgian-American actor, theatre maker, and poet. Really energetic and jovial, she began to act at the age of three years.

Christina KULOW:

Christina (known as Tina) is from Boston. She is really brave, calm, kind, and works as a costume designer too!

Brady MADSEN:

This Canadian theater artist received the BFA of acting from the University of Windsor. He works as a director and educator. That's why he gets along well with the students, always in a good mood.

Here are the remarks of some students about the show :

the students said that it helps them to understand better English and they were very happy to watch this play. Every students gave good remarks.

One of the student said that the part he prefers is when the students came to play their role and when Flick found her friend. Another said it's when they found the truth with the real story of the King. Unfortunately some of the students didn't like some moments like the beginning and some characters like Gudishew or the Queen and the King Adam. The students were very focused on the show and they thank the actors.

The three actors invite 6 students to play and in total they were 13 to participate in the play.

The famous Jade Flament, a student who was selected to do the show will give us her opinion about the backstage:

"So I had to do a casting and I impressed the jury so I was selected !. Then, I had to learn my lines and right before the show, I rehearsed with the actors. It was very fun and I have improved my english level."
